COUNSEL

RE: Campaign violations of Dr. Lowry Election Committee H0TX23102

To whom it may concern;

The following items appear to violate regulations set forth by the Federal Election Commission. We respectfully request the Commission to review the campaign practice of the above mentioned committee.

-No campaign committee report filed for year-end reporting period (10/01/09-12/31/2009)

The Dr. Lowry Election Committee has obvious receipts and disbursements for this period as there was a filing fee filed with the Republican Party of Texas in the amount of $3500. There was a radio ad that aired on Dec 31, 2009. Not only would there be air time expense, but also production expenses. The radio spot aired on WOAI and KTSA. Dr. Lowry Election Committee had a website in place in November of 2009 with obvious production costs as well. You will see from attached website page that a blog began on Dec 11, 2009.

-Illegal use of corporate medical offices (Alamo Healthcare Systems located at 2425 Babcock, Ste 111-B, San Antonio, TX) for campaign use and advertisement. The attached website screen shot states " Campaign materials will be available for pick up At Dr. Lowry's medical office...".

-Under "Financial Support" on the attached screen shot, the committee state that they are accepting contributions from $5.00 - $5,000.00 which would exceed the maximum contribution allowed by the FEC. In addition, the committee state that they are soliciting contributions from "businesses and organizations" which is also prohibited by the FEC.

In a recent article in the Red File press,

It is interesting to hear that when the Defense budget has over 100 million dollars of pork (money for "warrior") added to it, that everyone denies the situation, but then in the same breath honors the local politician who was able to get 1 million of that money for some project back in his own district?

In Medicine, we are taught to look for a common cause underlying many seemingly different symptoms which one patient may present with -- that we should avoid treating each symptom as if it were a separate isolated issue, and to consider how all of a patient's symptoms may be related to one underlying problem. If we treat the symptoms without looking for the underlying cause, we risk prolonging the course of the problem, and we
